Editorial Review

From the Inside Flap

A beloved spiritual leader shares wisdom and comfort for the voyage of life.

Hailed for her compassionate, enlightening insight that unites contemporary concerns with ancient spiritual paths, Margaret Silf has guided thousands of men and women in powerful journeys of self-discovery. "At Sea with God" invites readers to experience her most invigorating message to date, using the ocean as a metaphor for the chances and changes we must all confront.

Drawing on seven vivid images, "At Sea with God" casts a beautiful new light on:

The "vessels" that carry each of us through a lifetime of events

Cargo, which has the potential to sustain us or to weigh us down

The process of setting sail for unfamiliar destinations

Navigating uncharted waters, even when the best path is difficult to discern

Taming fear during storms and shipwrecks

Rejoicing in the serenity of calm seas and dealing with the times when we feel we are "going nowhere"

Choosing the best time and place to drop anchor

Written in gentle prose reminiscent of Henri Nouwen's and C. S. Lewis's, "At Sea with God" offers a short course in strengthening the soul using meditative tradition. For Christians of all denominations, Margaret Silf has created a safe harbor to savor again and again.
